

Convenience Store Shopping Considerations

Through purchase data and surveys, Prodege helps you to better understand the shopping behavior and feedback of C-Store shoppers!

Over 80% of our consumers plan to definitely shop at a convenience store again in the future, and over half strongly agree the store has a good selection of items they want.

Prodege partnered with a leading brand to gather insights into gas station and convenience store shopping behavior.

The Challenge

As the brand evaluated what to have in stock they needed to know:

- When considering stopping at a C-store, are most shoppers conducting in-the-moment shopping and are they by themselves or with company?
- How often do they visit gas stations and convenience stores?

The Solution

- Conduct surveys to known gas station and convenience store shoppers through our targeting capabilities and push notifications
- Ask real-time questions to Prodege shoppers as they browse specific stores and upload their receipts

What We Found:

Prodege c-store shoppers are loyal shoppers with almost six in ten having a preferred gas station/convenience store they like to visit.

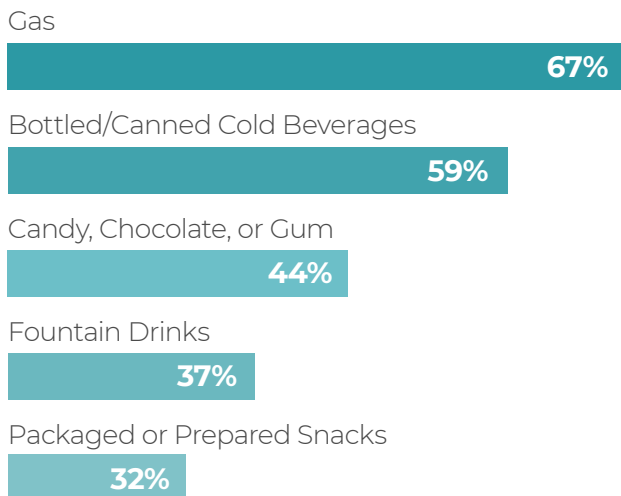

The frequency of attending convenience stores varies but almost half of our consumers, both men and women, admit they shop at c-stores at least once a week, or more.
